

Police, employee talks delayed

Executive meeting not held

An executive session of the Romulus City Council, during which action was expected on both the city-county police contract and the city-employees negotiations, never happened last Wednesday, reportedly because Council President Jimmie Raspberry failed to appear or explain his absence.

According to Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, the contract is ready to be finalized. Apparently the council wanted last minute examination on some points contained in the contract before deciding whether or not to sign it.

While the council thrashes out final details of the proposed merger with the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol, Romulus is left without adequate police protection.

The original 10-man force is down to five members, including Chief Jacob J. Koch. Three officers have resigned. Another is absent on an emergency.

The City Council has scheduled an executive session for last Wednesday. The proposed police service pact had been approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners some time ago.

During discussion of the contract at the last council meeting, Councilman James C. Stewart said he was displeased at the county for sending over so many versions of the basic contract.

"I want to see the final contract," Stewart said. "I have seen four or five of them. Wayne County is dictating to us. This I do not like," said Stewart.

Earlier in the negotiations, members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners showed equal ire because they felt that Romulus was not acting in good faith and was delaying the merger through a lack of positive council action.

The dispute then centered around Chief Koch, who was not a part of the merger contract. The commissioners passed a resolution accepting the contract despite the fact that Koch may be able to sue to gain a police job with the county.

Although this point is technically still unresolved, Mayor Carmichael maintains that Chief Koch will be kept on the city payroll in a capacity other than that of chief of police.

Council President Raspberry, taking the cue from his colleagues on the council on the importance of an immediate contract decision, had requested council members to attend the executive session in an effort to arrive at some final action.

Mayor Carmichael also expected some work at that session on a contract proposal for Romulus' city employees. He said that he expected the council to iron out some of the language in the proposal.

City negotiators have been meeting with members of local 214 of the Teamsters' State County and Municipal Workers union on a contract for 1971-72.

Local 214 representative Joseph Valenti announced the start on over-all phases of the contract July 8 after deferring the initiation of unfair labor charges against the city with the Michigan Department of Labor Relations.

Local officials were preparing to file the charges because of an alleged failure of the city to negotiate the contract.

Local 214 was selected by city employees in an election conducted last April by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board.

Play hours set up

All Romulus playgrounds are now opened every day from 1 to 5 p.m. for participants in the Romulus Summer Recreation Program, according to Mrs. Marie DeBuyscher, director.

The recreation program started on July 12 and will continue through Aug. 20. Various recreational activities under the summer program are available to Romulus boys and girls.

School buses to playgrounds are available Monday through Friday at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. from Romulus High School.

The Summer Theater is now in rehearsal at the senior high school auditorium.

The summer program provides, tennis, basketball, day camp, playground activity and feature films.

Wayne-Beverly project

Officially known as the Wayne-Beverly Renewal Project No. 1, Mich. R-187, Romulus' initial urban renewal developments has a lot more neighborhood involvement than most official projects are accustomed to.

Last week, for instance, the Citizens' District Council, which directly represents the people of the Wayne-Beverly area, met with Urban Renewal Director George Wilhelmi and other city officials to learn more about its part of the project.

City Attorney John Young was there to explain the citizens' legal rights and reveal what legal help they can expect from city hall when new builders arrive to develop the area.

Romulus Building Manager Clayton Meldrum also was there to explain city codes concerning new buildings and the guidelines being prepared for builders in the area.

Citizens are involved

Wilhelmi explains that the District Council has direct and official involvement in the decisions that the city is making about the renewal project.

"The council is responsible, under state statute, for assisting the city in this urban renewal project," Wilhelmi said. It has a reviewing capacity on all phases and must be consulted on all planning changes.

He says his office works directly with and through the members of the council on all areas of the project.

The council, in operation for three years, is comprised of neighborhood electees. Their involvement interest is understandably great, since they and many other area residents intend to remain in the renewal area following completion of the project.

PCHA hearing delayed

Court date set Aug. 5

Sumpter Township Supervisor Elmer Parraghi's suit against the chairman of the Board of Directors of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) has been delayed at least until Aug. 5.

The action was taken by Circuit Court Judge John M. Wise Thursday because he felt he did not have enough time to prepare himself.

A writ of mandamus, to force Board Chairman Donald J. Pizzimenti to call a board meeting for purposes of discussion a new election of officers, was sought on behalf of Parraghi and Sumpter Township, a PCHA member community. Parraghi is also on the board.

"For me to sign a writ of mandamus at this point would be ridiculous," the judge said.

The case was initiated on July 15 by Henry Zaborowski, attorney for Sumpter Township. He relayed his brief to PCHA attorney B. Ward Smith, who in turn prepared his brief.

Smith, however, had only a short time to prepare his case, and presented his brief to Zaborowski and the court just prior to the 2 p.m. hearing time.

"Frankly, there are indications of a good deal of work by respective counsels in these briefs," Wise said. "It appears to me it will take some time for me to prepare to make a ruling on this."

Wise was scheduled to take the case only because Judge James Montante is on vacation. He suggested the Aug. 5 date because Montante is scheduled to return from his vacation on Aug. 2 and that would give him time to read the briefs and prepare for the arguments from both sides.

Trailer park dispute heads for settlement

The hassle between residents and management at the Royal Village Trailer Park on Van Born Road in Romulus is apparently heading for a peaceful settlement.

Through Romulus Building Manager Clayton Meldrum, improvements at the park have been initiated and new ones are in the planning stages.

Dr. Leslie Moss, one of the owners of the Royal Village, has promised full cooperation with the city and the trailer court residents, who complained of many safety hazards and code violations.

Trouble began when complaints were lodged with city officials by residents of the park and officials of the Michigan Mobile Homes Association, which represents the tenants.

A group appeared before the city council June 22 and demanded that action be taken against the trailer park. The group listed violations of the city's zoning ordinance in their initial blast at the park.

Mrs. Margaret Gent, a spokesman for the MMHA, says that progress is being made.

"They are going about it slowly," Mrs. Gent said, "but this you can expect. They are at least showing that they intend to do what they set out to do."

Mrs. Gent also said she felt that a public apology was due Clayton Meldrum, who had been accused by some residents of a conflict of interest.

Meldrum, himself a resident of the park, was thought to be ignoring violations at the park because of a friendship with the park manager.

"In the beginning," said Mrs. Gent, "we were under the impression that Mr. Meldrum was working hand-in-hand with the manager. We found out later that this was definitely not true, and he has been the one helping us get the park back into shape."

Meldrum became acting building manager of April 1. By April 15 he had informed Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael that there were problems in the park and by the 24th he had submitted a list of code violations to the mayor.

Tenants of the park did not find these facts until they had conversations with Meldrum following the city council confrontation.

The investigation the council initiated will be an ongoing one lasting approximately six months. Meldrum feels that, for the sake of fairness, the park owners must be given an adequate amount of time to complete improvements.

Some, however, have already made. Weeds, which choked some lots, and trash in the area are gone. Sewer and drainage repair has been accomplished.

Meldrum said at least two streets in the trailer court are being repaved this week. He indicated that Moss had

Black couple goes to court to 'move in'

James Mason, a skycap at Detroit Metro Airport, thought it would be nice to live close to work instead of commuting from the west side of Detroit every day.

So he and his wife, Constance, answered a newspaper advertisement for Metro Park Manor, at 6710 Merriman Rd., Romulus, less than a mile from the airport.

But the Masons are black and, apparently, the complex was not designed to accommodate them, because although they spotted a vacant apartment near the manager's office they were told there was no room.

"I don't have anything against colored people," Metro Park Manager Joseph Chavis reportedly said. "We just don't want to rent to them."

The Masons took their discrimination problem to the University of Detroit's Center for Urban Law and Housing for Wayne County.

The center enlisted the aid of several white couples, who went to the apartments and applied for admission.

Later the same afternoon of the Masons' visit, a white couple was told that there would be a place for them next week.

A second white couple was shown three apartments the following day. They are the ones who reported the segregationist quote from Chavis.

Richard Sobie, Mason's attorney, has filed a motion in federal district court to prevent the manager and his wife, Madge, from renting their empty apartments to anyone.

Judge Philip Pratt issued a temporary restraining order Monday, insuring that if the court decides for the plaintiffs an apartment will be available.

UNEXPECTED INSPECTION — Travelers on Huron River Drive between Belleville and Romulus were surprised recently by a State Police inspection team. Whether the surprise was a pleasant one or not depended on the shape the cars were in.

Troopers lined them up, Edison Lake Road and Huron River Drive and checked the basic defects.

All present residents will be given not only first preference on available lots, but also a choice as to the type of housing they wish to be constructed there.

Wilhelmi says that in many cases residents will know where they will be located before the city acquires their land for continuation of the renewal plans.

He says further that the neighborhood involvement has already caused noticeable changes in the city's plan, which contains suggestions made by the residents themselves.

The most visual improvement will be the inclusion of four additional acres of recreational space than was originally considered.

Trailer park settlement nears contracted last week to have the job done.

In addition, a fire route has been designated at the city's suggestion and has been clearly posted.

Also, as trailer pads are vacated, they will be brought up to code, which means all pads will be a minimum of 12 feet by 50 feet, and all trailers will be skirted to cement in the future.

The building manager indicated that this regulation was causing problems because the trailer park code is obsolete. While it calls for pads of 12 x 50, few if any trailers are built that small any more. Most are 12 by 60, and with highway travel now permitted for 14 foot trailers, even larger models will appear shortly. This means, of course, that 12 x 50 pads will be obsolete and that skirting trailers to such pads impossible.

Meldrum is now in the process of revising and updating the city code to provide for the growth of mobile homes.

It was also indicated that Royal Village is a nonconforming property, having been in existence for more than 20 years while the zoning ordinance was instituted only in the late 50's. This means that the city cannot force its owners to bring pads up to code until they are vacated.

Another improvement that Moss has promised is the installation of mercury vapor

Youngster needs 52 pints of blood

A youngster from Belleville is in need of 52 pints of blood as a result of injuries suffered in a July 6 automobile accident.

Terry Allen, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, 18491 Savage Rd., is still in Pittsburgh (Pa.) Children's Hospital following an 8½-hour operation to repair damage to his liver.

His total need of 52 pints has been partially filled, but his father says he needs much more. Anyone can give any type of blood at any American Red Cross donation center.

All that is necessary to insure that it is credited to Terry is submission of his name and the hospital that is treating him.

Terry's father reported that the accident occurred approximately 11 miles west of Pittsburgh when a car heading in the opposite direction made a sudden left turn in front of the Allen vehicle.

Also injured, but not seriously, were Allen and daughter, Marlene. Terry is expected to remain at Children's Hospital for at least two more weeks.

PCHA suit hearing delayed

The suit originated because Pizzimenti refused a request from Parraghi and two other PCHA board members to call a meeting for the purpose of holding a new election of officers.

Pizzimenti maintains that the board has no precedent on which to base a mid-year election. Board elections have, for more than twenty years, been held in January and February each year.

This year, Pizzimenti was elected to his fifth term as chairman, but won by a vote of 23 to 22, which his opponents claim is not a proper majority. There are 46 members of the board.

The request for re-election was also signed by Walter Sudak of Southgate and John Kessey of Melvindale. All three men lined up behind Tracy Salisbury, of Ecorse, who lost the race to Pizzimenti.

Parraghi's suit is based on the contention that Public Act 47 of the Public Acts of 1935 is very clear in stating that the chair is required to call a meeting upon request of three board members.

Pizzimenti based his rejection on an opinion from Smith, which states that the chairman is not required to call a meeting which would be a "futile effort," to discuss something on which no action could be taken.

While Smith maintains that nothing in the law allows for the arrangement of a second election, Zaborowski says that there is nothing in the law to prevent the board of directors from holding another election, since the officers serve at the pleasure of the board.

Black couple goes to court

Judge Thomas Thornton may extend this order on August 23 for as long as it takes to decide the case.

Creative Realty and Investment Company, of 15921 8 Mile Rd., Detroit, managing agent of Metro Park Manor, is also named in the suit.

According to Ronald L. Bennett of that company, "We have not as of this point denied the applicant as far as his application is concerned."

"As far as the amount of his (Mason) earnings are concerned, they are not adequate to justify living at the apartments."

Bennett said that, while Mason listed his earnings as $12,000 per year on his application, investigation showed his hourly rate was $1.90.

Mason's job, however, is one that involves a great amount of tipping.

Sentencing due

James L. Krause, 32, former Huron Township treasurer, was scheduled to be sentenced today in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Krause was found guilty in June of embezzlement of approximately $6,000 in township funds by a jury before Judge Edward S. Piggins.

Krause, who faces a possible five-year prison term and/or a fine of up to $10,000 has been free on bond awaiting his sentencing.

Krause, now a life insurance agent, was specifically accused of embezzling $5,789 from the township's general fund in 1970 by shifting money from the general fund to the sewer receiving fund and then using the money from that account for his personal use.

'Wrong-way' accidents dominated by drinkers

Drinking drivers are involved in well over half of the "wrong-way" accidents on Michigan freeways.

Analysis of such accidents on the more than 1,400 miles of freeway in the five years from 1966 through 1970 showed that between 50 and 75 per cent involved drivers who had been drinking.

A total of 219 wrong-way accidents were reported on state freeways from 1966 through 1970. They claimed 50 lives.

The worst in state history occurred 11 days ago when an auto and a station wagon rammed each other on I-75 freeway near Grand Blanc, south of Flint. Nine persons were killed. The lone survivor permanently injured.

A large portion of the accidents are caused by drivers who enter a freeway on an exit ramp. Others occur when vehicles cross a median or, rarely, when a car goes the wrong way on an entrance road to a freeway rest area.

Erection of median guard rail has helped prevent wrong-way crashes. However, no practical method has been developed to prevent vehicles from entering exit ramps. The main deterrents are warning devices.

On a standard interchange, two pairs of reflective black-and-white and red-and-white signs are installed on each side of the ramps. The first pair of 24-inch-wide signs warn the driver. "Do Not Enter-Wrong Way." The second pair, 36 inches wide and placed farther down the ramp, say "Wrong Way."

In addition, red reflector buttons, known as delineators, are attached to a series of small metal standards running down both sides of the ramp to give the night driver additional warning.

Hiram McNealey, State Representative from the 20th District received the coveted "preferred" rating from the Detroit Citizens' League. "The Civic Searchlight" official organ of the league revealed the recommendation.

McNealey, who is completing his first term in Lansing is well-known in the local area, having served for 17 years as member and presently as president of the Inkster Board of Education. A former councilman of the Village of Inkster for six years, McNealey has long been active in representing the interests of all people in his official capacities.

Mrs. Minnie Bova, of Ford Road, was sent as a delegate to the three-day World War I convention in Grand Rapids. She represented the Ladies Auxiliary of the Wayne Barracks.

The motive behind the formation of the 653 Barracks in America, Hawaii and Canada is to provide legislation for pensions of $100 per month for veterans 60 years of age or over.

Legislators fight pollution

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK, State Representative, 38th District

In its last session, the legislature passed and the governor signed into law a "Truth in water pollution" bill which established a surveillance system to guard against the discharge of polluting wastes. In the present session, legislative attention turned to dirty air.

There was introduced a "truth in air pollution" bill which, after considerable debate and a number of amendments, was very recently passed by the House. The measure is now in the Senate.

Patterned after last year's "truth in water pollution" act, the new legislation would require industries to list the elements they discharge into the air. It provides for stiff penalties against businesses which fail to comply with anti-pollution orders.

In order to finance the surveillance system, firms discharging air pollutants would be required to pay a fee to the state. This would range from as little as $25 to as much as $8,000 for those companies that release great amounts of air contaminants.

The present nine-member State Air Pollution Control Commission would be enlarged to 11 members which would have to include one labor representative and two representatives of the general public. The commission would be given authority to establish air quality and emission standards, issue pollution control facilities' permits and issue final orders for industries to comply with the established standards.

Industries would have 30 days in which they could request a hearing on the order. If they do not comply with the final order, they would be subject to a fine of as much as $10,000 plus a like amount for each day the violation continues.

There was an attempt to strike the fine clause from the bill, but it was defeated. Those opposed to the stiff fines claimed they would drive small industries out of business.

At the same time it approved this bill, the House concurred in certain Senate amendments to another anti-pollution measure passed earlier by the House. That bill would regulate harmful pesticides.

The bill would license dealers who sell pesticides and require the dealers to provide the state with records of their sales. In order to be licensed, a dealer would have to show adequate knowledge of the use of pesticides and pay a $50 license fee. The records of sales would provide information on the volume and location of sales of pesticides considered dangerous to man, wildlife and the environment. This information would make available basic data which could be used to control the use of harmful types of pesticides.

In addition, the director of the State Department of Agriculture would have the authority to list "regulated use" pesticides for the entire state or certain parts of the state. Once this list was established, the director of agriculture could regulate the distribution, time of sale and use of the restricted chemicals.

Accepted by the House were Senate amendments banning restricted pesticide information from the public and making the act effective Jan. 1. The bill has been sent to the governor.

The legislature is also working this session in the area of "visual pollution". One example of this is a House-approved bill which expands junkyard screening regulations. Present law requires screening only those junkyards established after 1966 and located on interstate and primary highways. The House bill would require that all junkyards on interstate, state primary and secondary and county primary roads be screened from the public, no matter when they were established.

Also under consideration is a bill that would tighten regulations on billboards and other types of outdoor advertising.

In addition, the House has passed a bill which would permit counties to establish collection centers for junked automobiles.

Lansing report

Lifestyle of Indian concern of Milliken

Gov. William Milliken will try to improve the lifestyles of Michigan's 16,854 Indians in an effort to keep them from fighting sportsmen over fishing and hunting rights.

The Indians will get much more than $24 in bright shiny beads.

In exchange, Milliken expects the Indians to draw up their own fishing and hunting regulations along lines that will mesh with those of the Department of Natural Resources.

The DNR will install an Indian Fish Management Administration, hire Indians as conservation officers and seek a peaceful settlement — satisfactory to both sides.

So the Indians will be asked to give up something — part of their unlimited fishing and hunting rights under an 1842 treaty — to get something, economic and social betterment.

"We're trying to help the Indian economically and culturally," said Samuel Mackety, executive director of the Michigan Indian Commission and a member of the Potawatami tribe. "We're hoping that this (fishing settlement) can be a wedge."

It could mean educational scholarships, special schools for vocational training, state-guaranteed loans for homes and businesses, improved health services and more attention from state welfare agencies.

By DON

The trouble started after the Michigan Supreme Court on April 5 reversed a 1930 decision which empowered the DNR to regulate hunting and fishing under the state's police powers.

Questions arose over how a state court could in 1930 abrogate a United States treaty with the Indians.

When the original 13 states federalized, all powers not specifically given to the federal government were reserved to the states. The police power remained in the hands of the states.

The 1930 decision was a legal interpretation that the state's own police powers outweighed those of the federal treaty-making authority in the matters of fishing and hunting in Michigan.

The April 5 decision, written by Justice John B. Swainson, reverse the 1930 ruling and installed the treaty of 1854 as the predominant legal authority.

Swainson's ruling in its language applied only to a small piece of land in the L'Anse reservation in the upper Peninsula and waters of Keweenaw Bay, where a group of Chippewas resided.

The Indians, including the Potawatamis and the Citawas, argued that the decision also restored nine other treaties and affected all 16,854 Indians in Michigan tabulated by the 1970 census.

But superimposed over the immediate issue of fishing rights was the economic plight of the Indians brought out in the hearings by Milliken's task force and the Indian commission.

Witnesses told of scratching bare subsistence from the land and depending upon fishing in many cases for their livelihood, of suffering hardships more often associated with the innercity ghettos.

It was natural that the Indians would take advantage of unlimited fishing in waters formerly restricted to sports fishing — the first real economic break they'd had in generations.

It was also natural that sports fishermen and the DNR would object to preserve the delicate supply of lake trout, a resource that contributed to tourism and recreation in the Great Lake State.

Milliken had to step in as a peacemaker, to preserve the restored rights of the Indians and also safeguard the rights of sports fishermen and the efforts of the DNR to preserve a resource.

He expects the Indians' own fishing and hunting regulations to respect the rights of the sportsmen and the duties of the DNR.

Reader urges no vote on Wayne proposal

To the editor:

How many white elephants do our peerless leaders propose we buy? So far, with the $13 million plus in urban renewal funds, they have negotiated for us:

1. A shopping mall tastefully decorated all around with rubbish containers, utility meters and dying shrubbery.
2. One empty hospital - very utilitarian and profitable to the community. Again, the landscaping - piles of dirt and rubble really stir the esthetic nature of man.
3. Empty fields galore - some that are the most attractive dumps you will ever see. Wayne is unique in that respect. It is the only city around with a dump located in the downtown area.
4. Blocks of empty buildings that any ghost town would envy.

I could extend the list, but if you live in Wayne, I guess you share my pride (?) in all the things we see.

Now our mayor and his council are really pouring it on! A colossal community activities building and at bargain basement prices yet!! Only $18 a year more taxes, for say about 30 years. A mere bagatelle they infer. Oh yes, this tax might come down when - when Wayne gets rebuilt. We think President Nixon has a problem with the Vietnam War and setting dates!

Well, that pretty little pipe dream they are trying to sell, is going to need someone to run it, clean it, program it, equip it and believe you me, that price isn't going to come at any $18 a year in taxes. They tell us right now our millage obligation is down 1.9 or some such figure for capital improvements, I believe. So what's so bad about leaving it that way. I don't mind it for a while.

Then let's look at another aspect. Wayne City is approximately six square miles in area. About one-sixth of this has thoughtfully been reserved for playgrounds and parks. Only there isn't one of these that is being profitably utilized or equipped as they could be. We can do a whole lot more here than with another white elephant.

Pretty as it is, I must vote no to the proposal. We don't need anymore holes in our city to be filled with non-taxable buildings. Besides having watched some of the machinations of our officialdom - 'What you see - ain't necessarily what you get!'

If you feel as I do - against the proposal - then for heaven sakes - plan to vote no on Aug. 3. Those who are pushing for it, have some grand plans to get out the vote for their side - they could obligate us to this by default.

Vote no on Proposition A.

'Gypsy' at Will-O-Way

The musical "Gypsy" with book by Arthur Laurents, music by Jule Styne and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, will be the final production at Will-O-Way Theatre for the summer season of 1971, opening on Aug. 13 and 14, and playing on Friday and Saturday evenings through Aug. 28.

The famous story of Gypsy Rose Lee's apprenticeship and her rise to stardom in burlesque is really the story of Gypsy's plucky, arrogant mother Rose, who propels her untalented daughters into show business to satisfy her own secret ambition. Returning to the Will-O-Way stage will be Vickie Zoyas playing the part of Rose created by Ethel Merman. Vickie Zoyas will be remembered for creating the role of Maroon in the musical "Sneaky" that toured Indiana and Michigan four years ago.

"Gypsy" will be directed by Jon Tanner, a brilliant young man who is himself an artist. Tanner is a veteran director of many children's productions and received his training at Northwood Institute of Indiana under Celia Merrill Turner and Meadowbrook Academy of Dramatic Art under John Fernald.

Eileen Weiss, a talented young ingenue discovered at Will-O-Way, will make her professional debut in the role of Louise, who becomes Gypsy Rose Lee. Miss Weiss won a city-wide competition this last spring to play the role of Alice in touring children's productions of "Alice in Wonderland" mounted by the Parks and Recreation Department of Detroit.

Will-O-Way is indeed fortunate to have Hazen Branch dancing the demanding role of Tulsa who does the delightful tap routine to the song "All I Need Now Is The Girl". Hazen at 22 has achieved his astonishing expertise from his experience as performer and choreographer in over nine major musicals in Detroit area community theatres. Branch will also double as choreographer of Will-O-Way's production of "Gypsy".

The role of blonde, pretty June who never had more than ten candles on her birthday cake and grew up to be the famous star June Haver, will be played at Will-O-Way by Jean Taylor. Jean at 18 has played leading roles from Belfast, Ireland, to Wisconsin U.S.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at Will-O-Way's box office on Friday and Saturday evenings. Mail Orders are now being accepted. Phone 644-4418 for further information.

Romulus to present 'Paddle Your Canoe'

The Romulus City Players will present "Paddle Your Own Canoe," a comedy in three acts written by William F. Davidson and Robert Heimerl, on Aug. 6-7.

Cast members are rehearsing every night, Monday through Friday between 6:30 and 9 p.m., at the Romulus Senior High School, 9650 S. Wayne Rd.

The story concerns the adventures of a newlywed couple at an isolated fire station in the north woods.

Summer theatre in Romulus has become a reality this year due to the efforts of the City Recreation Commission with the cooperation of the Romulus Community Schools.

Tickets go on sale this week at $1 for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted free. Performances will begin at 8 p.m. in the air-conditioned Senior High auditorium.

AM I PROUD?? I was proud enuff of Mike Ellich when his very 1st "LITTLE CAESARS" carry-out was successful, 12 years ago! (We were charter Civitan members, then.) He had 50 more before you knew it and then he opened his 1st "Parlor" on Wayne Rd., Out Westland Way! People who'd been taking it home, stayed around to sit down and sing about the Pizza... and the idea kept growing! Number 99 is already open... Mike's in NINE of the "Big 10" College towns. We've stopped at Little Caesars in Florida, California, Colorado... you name it! AND NUMBER 100 is about ready to open! No ordinary Mike, he. This guy's Prexy of Flint's Sheraton-Caddy... is doing the same with all the London Derby fish stops... is the power that blows the whistle wa-a-a-y out Woodward, at The Jax Junction, and when I say, "My Friend! It's with capital 'M' and 'F'... and with chest extended! Mike is an admitted admirer of such greats as Mickey Lolich, Al Kaline and Bill Freehan. They in turn, join this Writer in calling Mike Ellich "Big League"! And if you've EVER stopped at a Little Caesars, whether you carry out... or sit down and enjoy, with the multitudes, you sure know why!

WHETHER YOU CARE more for the food... or for the society... for the music of gentle Pat... is a tossup! You get 'em all at Dick Benske's DANISH INN, 32305 Grand River, in Farmington. Now, ever since Eve ate apples, much depends on Dinner. And ever since the eve of our first Dinner at The Danish Inn... our happiness depends frequently upon this great place. It's that extra filip... like putting Cleopatra in mink. Pat Flowers makes melodious sounds... and our Gourmet Host, makes miracles to match. They say if you haven't heard Pat Flowers, you haven't heard music. Now they say, too, that if you haven't tried Dick & Barbara Benske's famous Bliff Lindstrom, which is chopped Sirloin mixed with Chopped Beets, Onions and Capers... and topped with Egg... you haven't eaten! Dick does take time off from Baseball and Bowling and (would you believe) Pigeon-fancying... to whip up those miracles personally. So: WHAT'S your pleasure? To be welcomed by gracious Barb? To lose yourself in the sound of His music? To dine on a star... and Lindstrom? It's ALL there. The Danish Inn is what's known as "getting it all together".

"A STAR IN HEAVEN," by our good friend Herschel Steinhardt was hailed by leading American Critics as unaffected and discerning... honest, intense... written with deep insight. "I would like," said Herschel at VARGO'S (30325 McNichols, in Livonia) "to write the mood of this place into my great American Novel. It, too, is intensely unaffected". Does it take one to know one? As a Writer, we could understand the use of Intense and Unaffected in describing the same place at the same time. But as a VARGO'S Diner... we could maybe even out-expound Herschel Steinhardt! Most certainly, it IS one of some great American Novelists. It seems apart from time. Soft voices, muffled laughter, mood music that makes you do like the "guy from Chicago", dance with your Wife (and fall in love all over again). All this... and a sumptuous Menu to delight and luxuriate in! The everyday-seems-the-same-ness of life disappears once inside the door, and the Writer in us recognizes that we now tread on enchanted ground. Three weeks running, we d-i-d-n't let Don or Patricia Vargo know we were there... and got the same-as-everyone-else treatment. Hey! If this's how everyone else gets treated... we're gonna stop pushin a pen for a living, and take Mama there every night! Vargo's just seems to satisfy all our creative needs. For you, dear Readers, it's a personal "Star In Heaven"! Try it!

"The Autumn Leaves" sang Lonesome George Pfeiffer, "drift by my rowboat...". Wouldn't you know the 1971 Trout King would choose a Seafood House Extraordinaire... and that he'd also feel entitled to improvise a little at their Singalong?? But he had rowed his boat clear to Ypsi to join the enthusiastic crowds at the 7 SEAS SINGALONG, which is straight Westeryly out Michigan Ave. to 1435 E. Michigan! (Only in this column do we go West to get East), and he IS entitled to sing out loud about The Seven Seas Singalong! Harold and Lina Gable have created a place that becomes "Family" the first time you visit... and you feel at home (even if you're the guy who always sez "Not M-E, Buster!") just as soon as you find yourself joining the singing! Singalongs are Thursday, Friday & Sat'd Nites, by the way. Sunday is The 7 Seas' day off. AND, if you feel like a liddle lunchtime ride... the kind where you talk on the way there... and feel even freindlier allway home... try it Monday through Saturday for treats you'll drive to Ypsi for, every and any day in the week! George Pfeiffer could never be "lonesome" too long... at The Seven Seas.

VICTOR'S is, for lots of local people, the 24-hour-anytime-at-all place that stands ready and willing to serve you... and serve you well. You may be on your way home in the middle of the night, in full formal attire... on your way home from such an impossible day that you have to stop for a cup of coffee and a simmer-down before you face the Family... on your way to or from Shopping, and just get that (usually correct) feeling that The Girls will all be there. Whenever it is, Victor's, at 34410 Ford Rd., has a way of becoming a habit! It's that always cheerful... always spotless, always delicious Restaurant where you were! Parking? Plentiful and come away even better than you were! Parking? Plentiful and well-lit. Convenience? What more can anyone ask than a complete Shopping Center right behind Victor's... a stop light on the corner to get you in and out inna hurry... AND a place that even watches your finger for you? Try the Weight-Watchers Special. Bring the small fry. Enjoy the scenery. And look for Cap Patric. If you're the first to see me there... lunch is on M-E!

MEANWHILE, BACK AT THE... office we've been discussing the meaning of savoir-faire. Gerry Wendt, Womens' Editor of no small note, explained patiently? "If you come into The Golden Coin and find your Wife in the arms of another man, dancing... and you say "Excuse me", that's savoir-faire." "NONSENSE!" sed Diane Martina. "If you come into The Golden Coin and find your Wife in the arms of another man, dancing... and you say "Excuse me, proceed", t-h-a-t's Savoir-faire." Helen Furcean, admittedly an expert in these matters, threw down her brush and got up on her chair! "Lissen, you nincompoops!" she shouted. "If you come into The Golden Coin and find your Wife in the arms of another man, dancing... and you say "Excuse me, proceed"... AND he proceeds... then H-E has savoir-faire!!" These ex... Dancers know all the answers, don't they? In any case, we were all agreed on several things? A: There's plenty of "savoir", fairing around at THE GOLDEN COIN, at 1870 S. Wayne Rd., in Westland. And B: It's the kinda place your Wife likes to go weekend dancing (that's because of the strictly-swingin' Music!). C: The food so melloows one, that you just let 'er proceed without any kinda argument, while you proceed with such other kinda tempting dishes, like... tender Chicken Livers sauteed with Mushrooms, and platter-sized Sirloins and... Oh! Excuse me, proceed...

TODAY'S THE DAY we're thinking Writers, evidently! Austin O'Malley, who was, until 1932-ish, an American Writer, called Marriage a meal where the salad is equally as good as the dessert. O'Malley said it about Marriage (which is a great institution)... and WE always say it about VLADIMIR'S, which is a G-R-E-A-T place to start that Marriage! We who live in an age where mostly unnecessary things are our necessities, all agree that VLADIMIR'S, at 28125 Grand River, in Farmington IS indeed necessary to the wonderful Wedding! There is absolutely nothing left undone... no smallest detail is left unattended, at a Wedding by Vladimir. Ethnic Foods, unexcelled Decor... Music... Flowers... ALL the beauty and attention that only years of planning and experience can produce, become a part of the dream day! If there's a Wedding in your future... you must visit this place which is so elegant in style, in beauty and in taste, that you could never consider planning for any other Hall. Call Vladimir at 477-8050. He'll conduct your personal tour through this Wedding Wonderland. Only in this case do we agree that ONE look is worth 1,000 words.

WEDDING TALK IS Happiness Talk. And happiness is having people you like over to celebrate your coming Nuptials! Remember something as important as COLT 45 MALT LIQUOR and MALT DUCK, and you'll be remembering your Friends! The best for that great day, and the sure way to make a large number of people happy with minimum time, work and money... is to have both Malt Duck and Colt 45 Malt Liquor on hand. NEVER would we call these two fine beverages just "beer", because they're deliciously different and they're why we recommend them whenever we talk Weddings. These beverages are for special people and their special occasions. Summer and Fall Weddings can be very warm... and you'll find both Colt 45 Malt Liquor and Malt Duck very refreshing on just such an important day. If you're likely to have Guests at home both before and after the Wedding... and if you're likely to remember ALL the important little details... DON'T make the mistake of overlooking this B-I-G one! Have plenty on hand. It's as simple as a day-before trip to your local Party or Package Store!!

NEW STORE TO OPEN — Costing $1,303,400 and covering 93,100 square feet, the new W.T. Grant Co. store on Grove Road at the I-94 expressway in Ypsilanti will open its doors for the first time Sunday.

Opening slated Sunday for new Grant's store

When the ribbon cutting ceremonies are concluded Sunday morning, a new W.T. Grant Co. store in Ypsilanti will open its doors to an estimated 15,000 to 20,000 people the first two days.

Located at the Gault Village Shopping Center at the Grove Road crossing over I-94 expressway, the new $1,303,400 structure will occupy 93,100 square feet.

According to Mark Wages, merchandise manager, the store is twice as large as the previous Grant Store which was built in 1963 at the shopping center.

Although the existing buildings in the center are owned by Gault Village, Inc., the new structure is owned by the W.T. Grant Co. of New York.

Construction of the building began last August with Paul J. Barton & Associates, Inc., of Kalamazoo as general contractors. Interior work, started in June, is being completed this week.

Built of block and brick with aluminum trim, the building is partially 2-stories with the sales area located on the first floor. Storage and office space is located on the second floor.

The interior of the building is lighted with rows of fluorescent lights across the ceiling. Green tiles are accented by off-white walls with green pillars scattered throughout the building.

Wages said recently this is the first Grant store he is aware of to open on a Sunday. He said the general opening day for Grant stores is Thursday, and occasionally Monday.

The public is invited to the 11 a.m. opening. State Rep. Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti) will be on hand.

The store is planning a variety of opening week promotional activities. Wages said the store will give away prizes in almost all departments. A fashion show is planned for August 3 although no time has been set. Wages explained that immediately following the show, there will be a 10 per cent discount on women's fashions.

Other specials planned in connection with the opening include a paint sale, a sewing machine drawing and a 20 per cent discount on men's suits later in the week.

For many years, Grant's was known as a discount chain. Now, according to Wages, it is categorized as a family department store. He explained the rating is based on the size of the store and quality of the merchandise carried.

"We carry a better quality merchandise," Wages said, "and can't even be compared to a discount store."

He said all the merchandise in the new store is new stock, with nothing carried over from the old store.

Wayne County Commissioners winners of two national awards

Two national awards were won by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners at the annual convention of the National Association of Counties (NACO) in Milwaukee.

Condemnation plea deferred

Action by Romulus City Council on a request of the Wayne County Road Commission for the right to condemn property relative to the commission's widening of Eureka Road between Inkster and Middlebelt roads has been deferred.

The council instructed City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar to dispatch a communication to the road commission expressing the council's concern with the existing homes which will be effected by the Eureka Road widening.

The council announced that, if and when a satisfactory agreement can be made with the homeowners involved and the road commission, the council will reconsider the commission request for the right of condemnation.

As presented to council, the commission widening program would bring the road right up to the homes on Eureka.

leadership role in the formation of the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice System Coordinating Council earlier this year.

In addition, the county won a first-place award for the excellence of a 12-minute color motion picture depicting the county's public services. The film was produced by the Board of Commissioners and is available for viewing by clubs, civic groups and school classes.

Wayne County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick accepted the County Achievement Award and described at a law enforcement seminar the structure and functions of the city-county coordinating council.

The council was formed jointly by FitzPatrick and Mayor Roman S. Cribbs, with the approval of their respective legislative bodies. It brings together the heads of all agencies involved in the criminal justice system to coordinate programs and set priorities for use of federal and state Omnibus Crime Control funds in Wayne County.

Also at the NACO convention, FitzPatrick and the chairmen of the boards of commissioners of Michigan's other three largest counties — Oakland, Macomb and Genesee — launched a drive to organize the chairmen of elected county boards nationally.

They announced plans for a National Conference of Elected County Chairmen as a counterpart to the U.S. Conference of Mayors and a newly-formed National Council of Elected County Executives.

In a joint statement, the four board chairmen pointed out there are only 45 elected county executives in the nation, while some 3,000 counties have elected legislative bodies.

"We believe the elected chairmen of county boards are a valid voice for many millions of voters who do not have such a voice at present, due to the limitations of existing organizations," their statement continued.

"The counties of the nation need a unified voice of elected officials speaking as loudly for them as the Conference of Mayors speaks for the cities," they added.

Delegates to the convention heard U.S. Senators Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota, and Birch Bayh, of Indiana, describe counties as the "government of the future."

Both senators warned that counties must continue their efforts to improve their structures if they are to realize their full potential for public service. Humphrey called for county reorganization to make it "more understandable, more sympathetic and more responsive."

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners is in the process of a sweeping reorganization study of the county structure.

The senators also told the NACO delegates that they fully supported NACO's effort to win revenue-sharing legislation from the Congress. The NACO convention met July 19-21.

ARTS AND CRAFT SESSION — Van Buren Township's Summer Recreation Program has a variety of recreational activities. Among programs offered at North Junior High School is an arts and crafts program. Working on a project with cardboard are (from left) Sherry Popp, 8, of 47196 Mc-Bride; Kathy Dansard, 9, of 47147 Ayres St.; Ann MacDonald, assistant counselor; and Michael Ostrowski, 8, of 10404 Borgman. The summer recreation program, expanded this year runs through Aug. 6.

Play areas needn't be lavish

Play areas needn't be lavish layouts with an array of expensive equipment. Many play items most children seem to enjoy can be built easily at home with western wood, as a way to keep children from roaming too far in search of fun.

One basic for smaller children is a sandbox. It should be big enough for several tots to move about in without crowding.

A solid box can be built of 2x12-inch western pine or fir, on 4x4-inch posts set 18 inches in the ground. The wood should be surfaced to avoid splinters and treated with a preservative to resist decay. Seating can be added with a cap of eight or ten-inch boards around the box or on two sides, or by adding triangular pieces at corners. These also will lend strength to the box.

County promises aid in Rouge clean-ups

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners has increased its financial and the citizen groups which plan to clear debris from the Rouge River, from $10,000 to $17,500.

The County legislators added $7,500 to the county parks budget in order to provide heavy equipment and equipment operators for Rouge clean-up drives planned by two citizen groups.

The increased support was recommended by the board's Public Works Committee which met twice with leaders of the groups to coordinate the assistance to be provided by Wayne County departments.

Several months ago, the Board of Commissioners transferred $10,000 to the budget of the County Drain Commissioner. The money will be used to provide cranes, dump trucks and chain saws for the Rouge clean-up.

The $7,500 increase in County support will enable the parks division of the County Road Commission to provide similar assistance.

Some 2,000 volunteers are expected to turn out for a weekend clean-up scheduled for Aug. 14-15 on the main branch of the Rouge River between Eight Mile Road (the county line) and Warren Avenue. This effort is planned by a citizens "Rescue the Rouge Committee" which was organized by a number of civic and conservation groups.

In addition, a combine of Jaycees clubs plans to turn out at least 3,000 volunteers for a one-day effort, set for Sept. 25, in the suburbs west of Detroit. The two groups turned out some 3,500 volunteers in similar clean-ups a year ago. Both groups have raised their sights for this year because of the success of last year's efforts.

We'd like to see 5,000 volunteers out there this year, and we urge any citizens who can help to contact one or both of the two groups," said Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner Jr., of Grosse Pointe Farms (R-District 3) chairman of the board's Public Works Committee.

Other Public Works members are: Edward Jones, Detroit, (D-District 16), vice chairman; Charmie Currie, Detroit, (D-District 6), James De Sana, Wyandotte, (D-District 23); John Lesinski, Dearborn, (D-District 20); Richard E. Manning, Redford, (D-District 19); Rose Mary C. Robinson, Detroit, (D-District 17); John N. Sabo Jr., Westland, (D-District 24), and Eugene A. Sikora, Detroit, (D-District 7). Richard E. Manning, Redford, (D-District 19); Rose Mary C. Robinson, Detroit, (D-District 17); John N. Sabo Jr., Westland, (D-District 24); and Eugene A. Sikora, Detroit, (D-District 7).

During business hours, the "Rescue the Rouge Committee" can be contacted through its chairman Tom McPhail, at 864-2009 and the Jaycees may be contacted through its chairman Tom McPhail.

The "Rescue the Rouge

Committee" was organized by the Cherokee Circle Civic Association; Riverdale Park Civic Association; District 1, Michigan United Conservation Clubs; Detroit Outdoorsmen; Wayne County Sportsmen's Club; and STOP (Society to Overcome Pollution).

Race discrimination charged in insurance

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has passed a resolution asking the State Legislature to enact legislation against racially discriminatory insurance practices in Michigan.

The resolution was submitted by Commissioner William L. Dunbar, chairman of the Board's Human Relations Committee. Dunbar, a Democrat, represents District 10, encompassing Highland Park and adjacent parts of Detroit.

The resolution is based on a six-month research report by the California Legislature which concludes that insurance companies discriminate against ghetto property owners.

Several unfair practices are reported in the study, which indicates that these policies may violate the "equal protection" clause of the U.S.

Naval Academy after applications

Young men who will be seniors in high school next fall and who may be interested in a naval career starting with a free college education at the U.S. Naval Academy may apply now for admission.

Applications for nominations for the class of 1976 which will enter the Academy next June should be sent to Michigan's two United States Senators, Philip A. Hart and Robert P. Griffin and your United States Congressional District Representatives as soon as possible. Applicants need not know their congressmen personally to apply.

Standards for admission are based on a good scholastic record, participation in extra-curricular activities and leadership potential, as well as physical fitness.

Further information on the Naval Academy program can be obtained from the U.S. Naval Academy Information Officer, Cdr. Charles M. Greig, 23001 Hayes, East Detroit, Michigan 48021.

Child care

Girl has irritation of eyes

By WILLIAM G. CROOK, M.D.

Q—Every spring, my 5-year-old daughter is bothered by an irritation of the eyes. They itch, burn, water constantly, and when she gets up in the morning they are pasted shut.

I have taken her to a specialist who prescribed drops three times a day, but they seem to have little effect.

When she was 3, we discovered she was limping and took her to our family doctor. He told us she had a form of arthralgia, and that it was connected with the eye problem. He gave her pills and an eye ointment which seems to do more good than the eye drops.

They both say there is nothing more that can be done for this condition, but to wait for her to outgrow it. I would appreciate any enlightenment you could give me in this matter.—L.C.B.

A—A lot of people suffer from spring hayfever caused by grasses. Since the eye drops don't help a lot, I'd suggest you see an allergist. He can do a few skin tests and prepare a vaccine which can be administered before the season starts. This helps 80 per cent to 90 per cent of pollen sufferers obtain relief.

Although I haven't seen a lot of patients with muscle and joint aching caused by pollen, I have seen a number of youngsters who suffer from arthralgia, even arthritis, caused by foods such as milk or chocolate. So it's possible that the allergy can cause the joint pain as well as the eye irritation. This should be one more reason for obtaining allergy consultation.

(If you have a child care problem you would like discussed in this column, write in care of this newspaper.)

Romulus chamber names new director

The Romulus Chamber of Commerce has a new executive director.
He is Charles Sterritt, who brings extensive sales management and public relations experience to the post.

Among Sterritt's experiences are work as sales manager, special products, for Kelsey-Hayes in Orangeburg, S.C.; Detroit sales manager for CBS-TC network sales; and as radio broadcaster for WJBK, Detroit.

"I believe Romulus has the greatest growth potential of any area in Michigan," Sterritt said Monday. "and that a strong, viable Chamber of Commerce can be the catalyst through which this can be accomplished."

He believes the Chamber should work "in concert with the efforts of the progressive city officials of Romulus and its citizenry."

Sterritt added that he thought the Board of Directors was "the best a chamber ever had, dedicated to every aspect of the fulfillment of this goal."

Romulus mare sweeps awards

Gael's Gold, a double-registered half Arabian Palomino mare, owned by Mrs. Bea Suiter of Ecorse Road, Romulus, recently captured a series of awards.

Beginning with a Reserve Champion Award won at the All-Breed Show at the Michigan State Fair Coliseum in June, the three-year-old mare went on to win Grand Champion Mare at the Circle K show in Ann Arbor.

Her latest honors came at the All-Arab show in Saline, where she was shown by her trainer, Mrs. Daniel (Denise) Ery. She won a fourth place award in halter class and placed sixth in both English Pleasure and Western Pleasure class. She was ridden by Douglas Sullens of Belleville.

"We're really proud of her," said Mrs. Suiter. "We bought her as a scrub colt when she was 18 months old. We couldn't even walk into a stall with her."

Plans are to show Gael's Gold as a Palomino at the Michigan State Fair this year.

Soldier bowls

787

A 19-year-old Belleville soldier recently put on a great bowling show in an unsanctioned tournament in Stuttgart, Germany.

Pfc. Gary L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Johnson Jr., 47216 McBride St., started off with a sizzling 288. He then dazzled the spectators with another 288.

Then, perhaps pressing too hard to hit that 800, he dropped a 211. His total — a whopping 787 — won the men's singles and, with another soldier, placed high in the men's doubles.

Pfc. Johnson is a clerk in Company A, 35th Supply and Service Battalion, near Augsburg.

Station, man robbed

Wayne County sheriff's detectives are seeking clues to two armed robberies in Romulus Sunday.

Three men in their 20's held up the Clark Gas Station at 9215 S. Wayne in Romulus with some $40.

The men pulled into the service station at 12:20 p.m. and asked attendant John G. Walker of 8426 Whitehorn, Romulus, for two packages of cigarettes.

When Walker returned to the car, the men revealed guns and demanded all the money. One bandit was armed with a rifle and scope while another brandished a small pistol.

The other robbery involved a Romulus man in the parking lot of the Middlebelt Bar 6221 S. Middlebelt Rd. at 9:20 p.m. Donald R. Murphy, 37, of 7270 Colbert in Romulus, told Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies that he was approached by a man armed with a .22 caliber sawed-off rifle with pistol grips.

The bandit ordered Murphy to lay on the ground while a second man took his wallet, car keys and watch.

Murphy said his wallet contained $72 and his watch was valued at $129.

The men escaped east on Joan Road in a 1965-68 black and white Thunderbird.

Romulus softball action

Anchor Block has lead

Anchor Block Co. swept into first place last week in Romulus adult slo-pitch action by outlasting Morgan Manor 9-8 and Baum Funeral Home 7-4. Billy Worden's two run homer in the top of the seventh inning moved Anchor in front of Morgan by a score of 9-4. It proved to be the game winning hit as Morgan managed four runs on seven hits in the bottom of the seventh. Morgan's equalizer was cut down at the plate to end the game with Anchor holding on to a one-run advantage. Morgan outhit Anchor 18-11 and they were led by Ron Jones who slapped four safeties in as many trips to the plate. Anchor's win over Morgan pulled them even in the loss column, but left them one game back in wins. Anchor took care of that Tuesday with an assist from Romulus Progressive. Progressive handed Morgan their second straight setback and third in their last four games by way of an 8-4 verdict. Anchor scored six times in the first inning against Baum Funeral Home but Baum came back with two in their half of the opening frame. Dave Pichan doubled and Dave Hoffman and Joe Leduke singled for Baum's two tallies. Don Skiff started Anchor's rally with a single. Dave Rakotz was safe on an error, Rick Paglia, Tom Block and Worden singled and Les Pennington was safe on an error to give Anchor a 6-2 advantage.

Baum rallied for two more runs in the fifth on singles by Richard Marken and Dave Pichan and a double by Ted Marken. Anchor pushed home the final tally of the contest on Jr. Rakotz's round tripper in the sixth inning.

Marken connected for four hits in as many tries to lead Baum's 14 hit attack. Anchor connected for four hits in as many tries to lead Baum's 14 hit attack. Anchor managed eight hits off of losing pitcher Ivan Kinshella. Ralph Rakotz got credit for the win.

Morgan who saw their eight game winning streak snapped by Spearman's two weeks ago, ran into a hot Romulus Progressive squad who extended its win streak to nine straight by taking an 8-4 decision. Progressive garnered three double plays to hold the losers to just four runs. The first double play was an unassisted effort as Ron Dick speared Kusibab's line drive and beat Flint in a foot race to the bag at first to pull Progressive out of a tight jam in the second.

Morgan came out of the gate with two runs on singles by Kusibab, Jones, Brothers and Ceaszar.

Progressive moved ahead to stay in the second inning when Bill Reiber singled, Mike Sprau smashed a four bagger to tie the contest and Linn Block singled to right and moved to third on an error. Al Ellis rapped a single to score Block.

Progressive came back with four more in the third on singles from John Sterling, Walt Drewno, Reiber and Dick and sacrifice flies by Sprau and Block.

Pitcher Bob Maronen started Progressive other twin killings on ground balls back to the box to cut short threats by Morgan in the fourth and sixth innings.

Ellis led a 14 hit offensive attack for Progressive with three hits in three trips and Sprau chased home three runs. Maronen gave up 13 hits enroute to picking up his 12th victory of the campaign.

Baum Funeral Home had an easy time with Guardian Coating and coasted to a 2-4 decision. Baum collected 27 hits in the contest, including home runs by Pichan, Marken, Hoffman, Laduke, Ed Warden and Bob Remelius.

Cue Corners rallied for six runs in the first inning and went on to defeat Theodore Limousine 16-3. Seven singles off the bats of Leon Jones, Ray Osak, Gary Nichols, Jim Polanze, John Haney, Chuck Reed and Don Osak gave Cue its first six runs.

Walter's Bar ended a three game victory drought with a 13-5 victory over Guardian Coating. Dave Williams hammered a three run homer for the winners in the fourth inning.

BILL HAWLEY Moves Up

Hawley named Wayne head cage coach

By TOM MOORADIAN Sports Editor Wayne Memorial's search for a head basketball coach ended today with the announcement by Principal George Bell that junior varsity coach Bill Hawley will move up to the challenging job next fall. Hawley served as junior varsity basketball coach for the past four years and was assistant to Doug Myers, who bowed out of coaching after the 1971 campaign. Hawley also has guided Wayne's track teams for the last four years. "We interviewed a lot of good people," said Bell "and we decided on Bill Hawley because of his proven association with the community, the school and the kids.

"Hawley attracts kids," said Bell. "A few years ago when I asked Bill to take over our track program we had only 14 kids out then. Last year Bill had 96 youngsters out for the team. "I am confident that he will build a respectable program in basketball as well," Bell said.

Hawley, 31, has been teaching in the Wayne-Westland Community School District for the past nine years. Upon graduation from Western Michigan University in 1962, Hawley began his coaching career at Franklin Junior High School in Wayne in basketball, football and assistant track coach.

It will be up to Hawley to reorganize a team which finished last year's campaign with a dismal 3-14 won-lost record. And Hawley will also have to prepare a team to enter a Mid-Wayne Conference which is packed with basketball talent.

Never too old to golf

By TOM MOORADIAN Sports Editor

Note to the gals in the back room - please spell Fred C. Lunde's name with an "E" at the end of his surname and not a "Y" - please. And if you don't know who Mr. Lunde is, please take note.

Lunde is the 72-year-old Belleville Golfer who recently shot a hole-in-one at Don's Executive Golf Course. That was his second ace in nearly 50 - that's fifty - years of golfing. He sliced a 122-yard shot with a 5 iron into the four-hole on July 11.

And I bring this up because the 72-year-old gentleman is surprised at most of the oldtimers who complain ever-so much, "That they don't have anything to do."

"It's foolish," said Lunde. "Life is too beautiful to sit around and watch it. Lunde isn't the type to brood and live in the past.

"I try to get out to the golf course each day and get in a round of golf. And we have a bunch of others who are there with me.

Some of the folks who make it to Don's are Ed Webber, Dick Collins, Tom McKenzie, Harold Brown, Tim Pophumus and Russ VanBuhler.

"You can call us senior citizens if you like for most of us are near or over 70-years-young and all are retirees," said Lunde, "but I'll tell you one thing, there isn't anything like a good game of golf to keep you in fine shape."

The veteran golfer pointed out that most of his group is from Belleville, but golfers come "as far as Ypsilanti and Plymouth to play with us."

"We would like to have some of the older folks from Wayne and Westland join in the fun," he added. "The more we get the merrier."

From Our Neglected Mail Box

Dear Tom, Would love to play in the City Golf Tournament this year, but why was it scheduled on the same date as the Michigan Publinx Tournament at Holly Greens?

Some of our guys will not be able to make it, or will have to choose which of the two tournaments they will want to play in.

And, by the way, the pro at Dun Rovin is overrating his course. I'm no expert, but believe me Dun Rovin is only a shade better than the cow pasture we played last year.

Sorry to be a complainer, because I realize setting up and running a tournament is really difficult and those who try should be commended, but had to have my say.

Just can't be there when I've already paid my $10.00 to play in the Publinx. I'll try again next year.

Ray Trennepohl 8339 Henry Ruff Westland

Gentlemen, This letter is written in response to an article which appeared on the sports page of the July 14th edition of your newspaper.

The Board of Directors of the Belleville-Van Buren Babe Ruth League wishes to make it perfectly clear that we believe that the Ypsilanti District Babe Ruth Tournament was conducted in a fair, equitable and wholesome manner.

Further, it is felt that the members of the Ypsilanti organization and particularly Mr. Jesse Rutherford have been unjustly maligned.

We, in the official league family, although in no way responsible for the printing of such insinuations, feel that an apology should be extended to Mr. Rutherford and his staff.

Hopefully, further accounts of Babe Ruth Baseball activity will emphasize the accomplishments of the participating teams and their individual members rather than the conduct of tournament officials.

Respectfully, Joseph G. Stillwagon President, Belleville-Van Buren Babe Ruth League

So Long for a While

And now I have to say "good-bye" for a couple of weeks for I'm leaving for the North lands where I intent to pry myself loose from this typewriter.

During my abasence, my good friend Dann Barkume will handle the chores of putting out the sports section. Any questions and copy should be directed to him.

See you in a couple of weeks.

Tom Mooradian

Romulus Rec. captures title

Romulus Recreation survived a three game playoff with Romulus Rotary to capture the Romulus Little League Minor Division championship in action last week. The two teams finished off the regular season with identical 11-3 won-lost records. A three game playoff took place with Romulus Rotary taking the initial contest. Romulus Recreation came back to win the final two games and capture the league crown.

The playoff completed the regular season campaign for Minor Division entries. Eight teams took part in the league this year.

In Major Division action, the Pioneers of Detroit capped off a strong performance by taking the league title with an impressive 13-1 record. The Pioneers capped off the campaign with a four game bulge over Kerr Manufacturing. Slave Market finished in a tie with Kerr as both teams had identical 9-5 won-lost records. Canejo Trucking also got into the act, also finishing with a 9-5 record. Morgan's Manor Mets came up close with an 8-5 accounting for the campaign.

Commercial Carriers Inc. put on a surge late in the season to finish off with a 10-2 mark and capture the Senior Division title by one game over Morgan's Pirates. The two teams battled head to head until the final day of the season. They were the only two teams in contention for the title.

Following the regular season, Senior Division teams compiled an all-star team to play in the all star tournament in Lincoln Park.

Though the Romulus entry showed a lot of hustle and had some good talent, they were unable to crack a tough defense on the part of Lincoln Park South and fell victim to a 2-0 outcome in their first outing in the single game knockout tournament.

The game took nine innings. All home tournament and post season games were played at the High School physical education field. All teams are governed by the Romulus Youth Baseball Association.

Stars to play Sunday

Agreement draws near for budget

The House has approved its first budget bill as agreement is reported near among members of a bi-partisan House-Senate leadership team and the governor's office, according to State Representative Edward Mahalak (D-38th District).

The bill which cleared the House contains appropriations for the departments of labor, commerce and licensing and regulation. The appropriation was for $29.9 million, slightly more than the $29.6 million recommended by the governor.

Pending are such major budgetary items as school air, welfare, higher education and mental health. The total budget will be around $2 billion.

Disagreements which have delayed action on the 1971-72 budget are being worked out by the leadership team. Key items involve revenue to finance the budget. Under consideration is an increase in the state income tax, limitations on property taxes and replacement of the present flat-rate income tax with a graduated tax similar to the federal "ability-to-pay" system of taxation.

The restrictions on property taxes and the graduated income tax would require constitutional amendments. It has been proposed that they be presented to voters as a package in the special election on Nov. 2.

The property tax limitation proposal would do away with property taxes as a source of financing school operations, except for six-mill enrichment programs which would have to be approved by local voters. The plan would permit 13.25 mills of property taxes for counties, townships, community colleges and special education programs. School operating costs would be covered primarily by the state income tax.

The divorce bill removes as grounds for divorce such complaints as adultery, desertion, physical incompetency, habitual drunkenness, extreme cruelty, imprisonment and divorces by one party in another state. Instead of these grounds, which often make for bitterly contested, emotional divorce cases, there will be a new "no-fault" concept.

The couple need only prove to the satisfaction of the judge that there has been a breakdown in the marriage relationship to the point that the objects of matrimony have been destroyed and there is no reasonable likelihood that the marriage can be preserved.

Property settlement and child custody matters would be handled separately.

Supporters of the no-fault concept point out that the change would eliminate the need for partners in a failing marriage to list and explain charges against each other in open court. It was noted that present laws encourage dishonesty when husbands and wives must either substantiate such complaints as adultery or drunkenness or else invent some other grounds.

A bill passed by the House would allow all cities in the state to levy a two percent income tax. Presently, Detroit is the only city able to tax residents' income at that rate. All other cities are limited to one per cent. Backers of the bill contended that it is unfair to allow one city the higher rate and not others which also have financial problems.

An amendment to the bill that would have removed a provision of the law which permits a one-half per cent tax on non-residents who work in the city was defeated. It was argued that this amendment would hurt cities that must depend on non-resident taxes. The bill would merely make it possible for cities to increase their local income tax rate. They are not required to do so. The decision is a local matter.

Faust bill

Intermediate districts may alter spending

Intermediate school districts will be able to improve and streamline their vocational - technical educational programs through a bill that passed the State Senate last week.

Sponsored by Senator William Faust, (D-13th District), the bill allows boards within intermediate school districts to spend money for operating programs, acquiring, purchasing or constructing area technical education buildings and equipment.

"In the past," said Faust, "intermediate school districts issued bonds to operate the vocational educational programs—even if they had the money. Now, they can operate on a pay-as-you-go basis."

"This expansion of the vocational educational provision," he said, "will give the financially solvent intermediate school district more flexibility in their planning and allow them to build and buy right from the operating fund."

Prior to spending any money, the Faust proposal stipulates that all programs must have the approval of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and must be approved by a majority vote of all school board members of each school district within the intermediate school district.

Breezing through the Senate by a wide vote margin, the measure now awaits passage by the House of Representatives and signature by the Governor.

Stabenow-Greer united

Newlyweds touring Europe until classes open this fall

Currently touring Europe for the summer are the newlywed Dennis Stabenow who, after September 20, will make their residence at 413 W. Barnes, Lansing.

Debbie Greer became Mrs. Stabenow in an early summer wedding at the University Methodist Church in East Lansing with the Rev. Daniel Richert of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, New Boston, officiating the double ring rite.

The seven o'clock ceremony, attended by some 250 guests, united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greer of Clare and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stabenow, Sr. of Romulus.

ORGANIST WAS Mary Castelretere of Detroit who played "The Wedding March," Dale Perz, accompanying himself on the guitar, sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "Since You've Asked."

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS STABENOW

Escorted up the aisle by her father, Debbie appeared in a toe-touching gown of silk organza over taffeta designed with a portrait neckline edged with lace. The lace motif was repeated in bands from the neckline to the lower edge of the bell-shaped skirt.

A full-length mantilla veil bordered in white matching lace and a delicate spray of butterfly orchids, delphiniums, blue rosebuds, and ivy completed her bridal finery.

Identically dressed, the quintet of bridesmaids wore long gowns fashioned with pale ivory chiffon blouses and navy chiffon skirts. In lieu of flowers, they carried deep pink glass candle holders containing lighted tapers. Cascading blue daisies also accented the arrangements.

MRS. DIANE METTE traveled from Indianapolis, Indiana to be matron of honor while Wendy Robbins came from Warren, New Jersey; Judy Van Anken from Chicago; Joanne Kolodziej from Livonia; and Sandy Love from Clare to be bridesmaids.

The bride's little cousins, six-year old Kay Bradley and her eight-year-old brother, Michael, carried out the roles of flowergirl and ringbearer, respectively.

Jim Crain of East Lansing assumed the duties of best man. Others on the esquire side were John Mette of Indianapolis; Lynn Greer, brother of the bride; and Don and Carl Stabenow, brothers of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Bob Ludwig of Jackson; Pat Hughes of Gladstone; and Kevin Byrnes of Colombia, South America.

FOR HER DAUGHTER'S wedding, Mrs. Greer selected a pale pink chiffon coat-dress ensemble with harmonizing accessories. Mrs. Stabenow chose a frock of mint green chiffon over taffeta with beaded sleeves and matching accessories. Both mothers were presented with corsages of pink rosebuds and butterfly orchids.

Both seniors at Michigan State University, the newlyweds will return to their classes in the fall. Dennis will graduate in December with a degree in communications while Debbie will receive her degree in social sciences next June.

MRS. JOSEPH E. LECH

Lech-McCully wed

Mackinac Island is honeymoon site

The First Baptist Church of Ypsilanti was reserved for the recent wedding of Margaret McCully of Belleville and Joseph E. Lech of Warren.

Arrangements of white and yellow daisies, carnations and mums adorned the altar for the afternoon nuptials. Officiating the double ring rite were the Rev. William Bingham of the First Baptist Church and the Rev. Roger Stanley of Holy Trinity Chapel at Eastern Michigan University.

Cornelia Schorr at the organ accompanied Ralph Thompson, Jr. as he sang three solos, "The Lord's Prayer," "Happy the Home When God is There" and "The Wedding Prayer."

MR. AND MRS. Wilfred D. McCully of 12410 Lake Pointe Pass, Belleville, are parents of the bride while Mrs. Joseph L. Lech of 24131 Thomas Street, Warren, and the late Mr. Lech, are the bridegroom's parents.

Walking up the aisle with her father, the bride was dressed in a gown of her own design and making. The dacton dotted swiss creation was in floor-length, the hem accented with tiny yellow flowers. The same trim was used to encircle the high neckline and to band the cuffs on the long, full sleeves.

The bride also made her veil which was designed in ballerina length and caught to a cluster of white flowers. Completing her ensemble was a wide basket of white daisies, bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

As her sister-in-law's only attendant, Mrs. Douglas J. McCully of Belleville appeared in an old-fashioned print of rose and lavender flowers on sheer white cotton. The fitted bodice featured short puffed sleeves and the full, floor-length skirt a rose satin sash. She wore a matching ribbon in her hair and held a basket of daisies, mums and mixed garden flowers.

DOUGLAS J. McCULLEY was best man at his sister's wedding with their cousin, William D. McCully of Manchester and Philip R. Syler of Belleville as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social hall where Mrs. Charles Guiter of Vicksburg, a college friend of the bride, took charge of registering the 60 guests. Miss Ella McCully of Detroit and Miss Lulah McCully of Pontiac, aunts of the bride, presided at the coffee service and punch bowl.

Friends and relatives attended from Warren, Detroit, Pontiac, Atlas, Dearborn, Jackson, Manchester, Jonesville, East Lansing, Clinton, Vicksburg, Farmington, Wayne, Plymouth, and Rondeau, Ontario.

On leaving for the week-end honeymoon on Mackinac Island, the new Mrs. Lech donned a dress of pale pink dotted swiss embroidered with blue rosebuds which she had made for the occasion. The newlyweds are now making their home at 931-A Cherry Lane, East Lansing.

The bride attended Ferris State College and Cleary College following her graduation from Belleville High in 1969.

Her husband was graduated from Detroit Cathedral High School in 1967 and is currently a student in Lyman Briggs College at Michigan State University where he will receive his bachelor's degree this fall.

Jr. Study Club will sell magazines

The Belleville Junior Study Club will take part in the upcoming Sidewalk Sales this week-end in Belleville's business section. Their stand will feature stationery and various items.

They will also conduct a sale of old library magazines — issues of the past two years — on the porch of the Fred C. Fischer Library, 167 Fourth Street on Friday, July 30.

Environment degraded by 'credit card morality'

In Chicago, 40 percent of the sunlight is shut out by smog. Every year 17 million tons of dust and dirt pour from U.S. factory stacks.

One out of two Americans drinks water which is either of unknown quality or doesn't meet Federal regulations.

These conditions, and others like them, exist because we have decided that they should, says Anne Field, extension home management specialist at Michigan State University. It may not be obvious or even conscious, but some decision is responsible for every aspect of our lives, she adds.

The decisions which have led to the present environmental crisis reflect our "credit card morality," she says — a "buy-now-pay-later" attitude toward the earth. Consumers and manufacturers alike have made the choices which pollute the air and water, allow the accumulation of waste, condone extermination of wildlife, and ignore tragic hunger due to overpopulation.

As to what to do about it, Miss Field suggests:

"Each consumer must constantly reconsider his decisions in light of new information. Think carefully about the benefit vs. the cost of everything you use. Direct both your 'problem-solving' and your 'habitual' behavior toward conservation.

"Problem-solving behavior involves conscious thought," she explains. "You consider a problem, seek alternative solutions and choose the best one. Habitual behavior is routine; something you've done for so long you do it without thinking

"As examples of the former," says Miss Field, "whenever we use a product, we must consciously consider: 1) final disposal of the product, 2) disposal of the packaging materials, 3) consequences of using the product, 4) recycling or re-use potential of the product and 5) the producer's attitude concerning his responsibility toward the environment."

Resolving these questions in terms of environmental quality is problem-solving behavior. "One thing problem-solving behavior can teach us," Miss Field points out, "is the value of using what is free. How many times, for instance, could you open shades and curtains, lighting a room by the sun rather than precious electric power?"

We must be aware also of the ecological impact of habitual behaviors, Miss Field says. "Do you realize," she asks, "how much water you use unnecessarily? Think how much is lost if you habitually leave the faucet running while you brush your teeth or wash the dishes."

Another questionable habit is the demand for changing style—in cars, appliances, clothes, etc. Because certain products go out of style so quickly, they are often replaced while they are still useful. All of this production uses resources and increases waste.

Improving and maintaining an acceptable quality of life requires responsible decision-making in all types of behavior; she says.

Women's Health

For six hours after a child has suffered a possibly serious head injury it is best that he be observed by physicians in a hospital setting. If the child is alert after that period, and his neurologic tests are normal, he can then safely be observed in his own home.

This is what a study by two Swedish physicians of histories of more than 1,000 young accident victims showed. If no serious symptoms developed within the first six hours of the accident, the likelihood of serious complications developing after that period was not great.

However, parents should check the child's condition closely for two days, noting to what degree he is awake, what his pupils look like, and how much movement his legs have. If lethargy, severe headache, vomiting, or other symptoms occur, the doctor should be alerted at once.

In more than three quarters of those with serious head injuries, symptoms developed within the six hour period. Among the remainder, symptoms developed more slowly.

The wise precaution would seem to be to take no chances. Any child who suffers a serious blow to the head had best see a doctor promptly.

ALLERGIES CAUSE EAR PROBLEMS

One of the most stubborn of all ear disorders—chronic serous otitis — is often caused by allergy. This is what Dr. Kenneth L. Craft of Indianapolis told physicians attending a medical meeting in Las Vegas, Nev.

An otolaryngologist (ear doctor) and allergist, Dr. Craft said that all parts of the ear can become sensitized by allergy. House dust, cigarette smoke, pollens, molds, foods — all can cause allergic reactions that may lead to hearing impairment. In many cases hearing improves when the offending allergy is uncovered and treated.

TONJA IS CHRISTENED

LITTLE MISS Tonja Marie Suemnick, who was born June 30 at Riverside Hospital in Trenton, was baptized Sunday at St. John's Lutheran Church in Waltz, with Pastor H. J. Schaible presiding.

God-parents for the three-weeks old infant were Linda and Theresa Jenkins, Jim Suemnick, and Mary Smith, all aunts and uncle of the baby from New Boston.

The maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jenkins of New Boston, entertained at the dinner party which followed. On hand for the party were the baby's parents, the Richard Suemnick of New Boston, the sponsors and some 15 other friends and relatives.

BAKERS ARE GRANDPARENTS

THIS WILL be hard to believe, but it's true. Bob and Millie Baker are grandparents! Added to their family tree on the 18th of July was a 7-lb-9-oz. granddaughter, Natasha Elizabeth, who made her debut at Bay Osteopathic Hospital in Bay City.

The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, Jr. of Saginaw.

The baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ludmila Selivra, resides in Los Angeles, California, and her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Mida (former Bellevillites) made their home in Wayne.

SIMONS FAMILY IS BUSY

MEMBERS OF the George Simons family of Van Borne Road have been pretty busy this summer, their activities starting with George's installation as president of the Canton Lions Club in June. The dinner party, which included wives of the members, was held at Vigo's in Ypsilanti.

Fifteen-year old Cheryl Ann, who plays violin with the BHS orchestra, spent two weeks recently at Eastern Michigan's Orchestra Workshop - she having received the orchestra's annual scholarship.

Gayle, who's soon to be 14, left last Wednesday for her two weeks outing at Camp Linden with Cadette Girl Scout Troop No. 419.

Then, of course, we had the latest on the Simons' son, Keith on our front page last issue EXCEPT that we misspelled his name. Keith, a member of Belleville High's wrestling squad, captured the National Junior Olympic Freestyle Championship in the AAU's Olympic development competition held recently at the University of Toledo.

And what has mom (Dorothy) been doing all this time? "Why acting as chauffeur, of course," she answered.

Michael George is his title

There's a new baby out at the Romulus home of Michael and Sherril Sancho, who reside at 15045 Brookway. Their first child, a son, was born June 25 at Oakwood Hospital, Dearborn. His weight was recorded at 7 lbs. - 7 oz. and he was titled Michael George, Jr.

His proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Sancho of Romulus; Mrs. Ernest Hamacher of Belleville; and William Darichuk of Lincoln Park.

Then there are a couple of sets of very happy great-grandparents to include - Mr. and Mrs. George Sancho, Sr. of Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thero of Florida.

The baby is the first grandson and great-grandson of his father's side.

Salad with snap

In the sunny Mediterranean, where warm weather dining is an art, really special salads begin with beans. Making your own is easy. No cooking. Just mix ready-to-eat canned ingredients, chill, serve and enjoy.

2 1-lb. 4-oz. cans cannellini (Italian white kidney beans)
2 6-oz. jars Progresso mushroom salad
1/4 cup chopped celery
2 Tbsps. chopped parsley
2 Tbsps. lemon juice
2 tsps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Drain beans. Mix all other ingredients together. Toss gently with beans. Chill. Serves 6.

THREE MORE DAYS TO GO - Mrs. Donna E. Lester, who's been affiliated with the U.S. Postal Services for some 30 years, will be leaving her post as clerk at the Belleville Post Office this Friday, July 30. She and her husband, Lew, are planning to move northward to Lake City and a new life of 'R. and R.' in their new mobile home.

Donna Lester says 'bye' to her postal duties

BY LEE SMITH
Women's Editor

Donna Lester's clerking days are just about over. In fact, she'll punch the time clock for the last time this Friday, July 30, as she says so-long to her duties at the Belleville Post Office. She'll be saying her farewells, too, to co-workers and the many patrons who've regularly called on her for assistance in their visits to the local establishment.

She'll be leaving behind spanning new facilities in which she's spent a mere three weeks but where, she says, the vastness has encompassed the old feeling of togetherness.

But graduating to newer, better, more modern conditions is nothing new to Donna, who in the early '50s made the transition from tiny, out-dated quarters (the P.O. was then located where Dr. G.G. Miller currently practices) to the just-vacated building on Main Street. The move, then, must have had much the same impact as the present day's change except that she had time then to adjust to a different mode of operations.

Looking back over the years, we learned that our subject was Miss Donna Franklin as she began her postal career in 1941 in her hometown of Yale, Michigan. She worked as a substitute clerk for nine months and was then appointed to a regular position which lasted for the next seven years.

In the fall of 1946, she accepted the new responsibilities of housewife as she became the bride of ex-G.I. Lester, just back from three years service in Europe.

When the Lesters moved to this area, Donna found work in the mail room at the Kaiser-Frazer plant. But that was only for a short period of five months. As Lew was driving through Belleville one day, he happened to spot the sign in the local post office 'Substitute

Clerk Wanted.' That's all it took to get Donna ensconced in the local mail emporium. She subbed for only one month then took over for Mrs. Lois Clayton when she retired.

She recalls the mere handful of employees in the second class office-about nine in all as compared to today's first class facility and some 28 clerks, carriers, supervisors, and substitutes.

Donna and her husband, Lew, (himself a recent retiree) have a whole new way of life ahead of them as they make plans for their move northward. There's a brand new mobile home ready to be delivered to their lot at Lake City near Cadillac and there are lots of dreams to go along with the package - hopes for lots of traveling, time to get at all that fancywork she's been longing to accomplish, lazy days for fishing, and - you name it!

The prospective retiree, who's served under three postmasters, was feted at a farewell party in late June. Planned by her fellow workers, the dinner dance was held at the V.F.W. Club where she was presented with a Hudson's gift certificate. Donna plans to buy accessories for her new fireplace - another 'first' as she embarks on a totally different life in completely new surroundings, all away from a desk, stamps, parcel post, letters, and best of all - away from routine.

Couple writes own vows for riverside wedding

The banks of the Huron River formed the setting July 11 for the unique wedding planned by Dolly Moran of New Boston and Dan Elwart of Romulus.

The ground was roped off into the shape of a heart with some 250 guests standing within to watch the bridal coterie walk up the side aisles to the "Theme from Love Story."

The young couple felt that since God created them, only He had the right to give them away so they walked up the aisle together while "Close to You" was played.

Facing their assembled friends and relatives, the pair repeated the vows they, themselves, had written for their special day. A short talk was given by Father Sayers and then rye and wheat were thrown at the newlyweds as they returned down the aisle.

Another musical selection for the ceremony was "We've Only Just Begun" which was sung by Dale Bowers.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Moran of 30977 West Road, New Boston, and Dr. and Mrs. Ray Elwart of 37511 Huron River Drive, Romulus.

FOR THE AFTERNOON nuptials, Dolly chose a floor-length gown styled in the empire mode with long sleeves and an A-line skirt. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations.

Linda Elwart served as maid of honor at her brother's wedding with the bride's sister, Eleanor Moran, as the only bridesmaid. Their frocks were designed with sleeveless empire bodices and long A-line skirts. Miss Elwart's in blue and Miss Moran's in pink. Their colonial bouquets were comprised of matching carnations.

Clay Farrell of Livonia, was asked to be best man and Rudy Schiethauer of Lorraine, Ohio was usher.

THE AMERICAN Legion Post at Flat Rock was reserved for the reception which followed. The 400 guests were received by Mrs. Moran in a pink ensemble and corsage of white carnations and Mrs. Elwart wearing a blue costume with a matching corsage of carnations.

Since returning from their honeymoon on Mackinac Island, the newlyweds made their home at 37098 Huron River Drive, New Boston.

A graduate of Huron High School in 1969, the new Mrs. Elwart is employed by Dr. Charles E. Ribley in Flat Rock. Her husband graduated from St. Mary's High School, Wayne, in 1966 and is currently attending Palmer College of Chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa. He is also employed by his father, Dr. Ray Elwart in Romulus.

Phosphates — Is the cure worse than the disease?

People are beginning to realize that phosphates in detergents are a minor factor in the overall water quality picture.

It is more generally understood that phosphates are not a toxic but are fertilizers which come from many natural as well as artificial sources.

We're beginning to realize, too, that in campaigning against only such things as laundry detergents, we are failing to deal effectively with the larger pollution problem.

In his paper, "Phosphates — The Cure Worse Than the Disease?" Jay Van Andel, Chairman of the Board, Amway Corporation, expounds this viewpoint.

He advocates federal control of those chemicals which may pollute streams and lakes when used in laundry detergents and other household products. He also suggests that the chemicals approved by the federal government be only those which can be easily removed from waste water, and that it becomes mandatory for municipalities and industries to install equipment for removing approved chemicals in their sewage treatment plants.

"Hasty action to remove some or all phosphates from detergents and to market huge quantities of non-phosphate laundry products in their place will result in playing a game of chemical Russian Roulette with our lakes and streams," he commented.

New Salt Lakes

"One of these new 'non-phosphate' products recently introduced contains 45 per cent table salt as one of its principal elements. The salt is merely an inert additive or bulk filler. It has no detergent action, and the consumer using such a product is only trading phosphate down the drain for salt down the drain which could convert fresh water into salt lakes," he said.

Less Food for Fish

Other "non-phosphate" detergents use as much as 60 per cent common washing soda which, if employed in vast quantities may increase the alkalinity of streams and lakes to a sufficient degree that it will kill microorganisms consumed by fish and other marine life.

If salt or washing soda is used to a large extent to replace phosphate, this could result in billions of pounds of doubtful substitutes entering sewage treatment plants. Salt can only be removed by costly distillation plants similar to those constructed to convert sea water into fresh water. There is presently no inexpensive way to remove washing soda from waste water during sewage treatment.

By contrast, phosphate can be removed by a simple process which costs less than $2 per person per year at a municipal plant.

"The emotional tactics of hurling invective, printing outdated, confusing and inaccurate phosphate percentage lists, and trying to legislate reformulation of detergents are not effective methods," Van Andel remarked. "In fact, it is quite possible that a certified list of government-approved chemicals, evaluated by scientific testing, would list controlled use of phosphate as the safest chemical we could use," Van Andel concluded.

Area students honored

Several area students were among the 2,300 at Central Michigan University named to the school's "Honors List" for their work during the spring semester.

Making the list from Belleville were Nancy Rose Flotte, 17040 Benton, a sophomore; Deborah A. Ford, 13312 Elwell, a senior and John P. Gasidio, 38678 Willis Rd., a senior.

Romulus students making the list were Constance M. Snr., 10249 Ozga, a sophomore, and Donald R. Stabenow, 39500 Huron River Dr., a senior.

Nancy L. Farrugia, 17100 Hannan Road of New Boston made the list. She is a sophomore.

Can a mother be charged with indecent exposure if she nurses her infant in public? So inquires a client. In a few towns, maybe. But not in most. The old ordinance-makers thought of that. Business expansion healthy in Romulus

By JOE CHAREST

The one-year-old City of Romulus will probably be suffering from growing pains for a long time to come. But they will be healthy expansion pains if the influx of business and industry continues at its present rate.

A part of the problem is caused by the fact that the growth of city departments has not always kept pace with the changes in the city itself—and some vestiges remain of the old township way of doing things.

One department that is hard-pressed to keep up with the increasing demands upon it is the Building Department, headed unofficially by Clayton Meldrum, acting building manager.

Meldrum was hired in February as electrical inspector. But he moved into his present position when Building Manager Joseph B. Gallagher resigned. The position leaves him with little spare time.

Although he has never been officially named building manager by Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, Meldrum has begun several new programs and instituted reforms within the department in an effort to match its efficiency with the growth of building projects in Romulus.

To create this efficiency, Meldrum has a staff of five inspectors and two secretaries to whom he gives a tremendous amount of credit.

"COULDN'T DO WITHOUT THEM" — That's what Romulus Building Manager thinks of his two Girls Friday, Rita McLenon (left) and Marianne Pomeroy, who handle a lot of business in a busy department.

Thomas Edward, a master plumber, is working as the city's plumbing inspector. He presently works on a part-time basis while waiting for authorization for a full-time position.

Building inspectors are John T. (Jack) Cant, Owen Richardson and Earl Jeffries. Refrigeration and electrical inspection is handled by Hugh Jackson.

Secretaries Marianne Pomeroy and Rita McLenon keep things buttoned down in the department's office, downstairs in the municipal building.

What does a building department have to do?

"I'm on the phone constantly," says Meldrum. He says he handles innumerable complaints as well as keeping tabs on building progress and dealing with corporations and industries moving into the city.

The inspectors spend most of their day out in the field, looking over what's going up, making sure that codes are enforced and assisting builders to meet the codes more easily.

Cant says he does a lot of arbitration work between neighbors, too, settling small differences as diplomatically as possible.

The scope of the Building Department is large. It must handle code enforcements for all commercial, industrial and residential buildings, clear city streets and all property in the city of health hazards, including junked cars, prepare initial and annual inspections for the renewal of licenses.

In addition, the personnel there must fulfill the mayor's directive to answer each and every complaint and do it as quickly as possible.

"The airport alone is a full-time job," Meldrum says of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, one of Romulus' chief enterprises.

"In addition to the American Airlines flight kitchen, which is being put up rapidly, a five-story parking facility is in the works." Meldrum indicated that three stories would be added to an already existing parking structure, and that a completely new parking building was also being planned.

Meldrum and his department worked hard planning the parking structure with its designers. Their efforts won high praise from the Wayne County Road Commission, which operates the airport.

Among things which Meldrum has initiated since taking over are a brand new refrigeration ordinance, rated extremely effective by the State of Michigan, and a new underground electrical system for Detroit Edison to increase safety in the construction of new subdivisions.

He is in the midst of creating revised codes for both general building construction and for mobile homes and mobile home parks within the city of Romulus.

A partial list of new concerns moving in at the present or just arrived includes: Crane Industries, an architectural research corporation; Transportation Equipment Corp., which manufactures large truck tankers; Export-Import Company, an air freight concern; Industrial Lease Back Corp., which builds industrial space and then rents it; and General Automotive Parts, which has office space and a warehouse in the city.

KNOWS WHAT TO LOOK FOR — A former construction worker himself and with four years of inspecting experience behind him, Romulus building inspector Jack Cant (lower left) knows what to look for on job sites in the city. He is inspecting progress of the American Airlines Flight kitchen being built at Metro Airport. —Enterprise-Roman photos

STARTING THE SWITCHING JOB - Cheasapeake and Ohio (C & O) Railway Co. workers have been busy this week to move a signal switch from the Goddard Road crossing to a position north of the downtown intersection. The switch had created maintenance problems and caused citizens and the City Council to request repairs. The crossing is expected to be closed the rest of the week.

Airport business lags

The biggest drop in state airport operations for the first half of 1971 was recorded at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, which had 15.5 per cent fewer operations. The low figure was due largely to a drop in the number of airlines functioning at maximum capacity.

A comparative table of figures covering Michigan's 12 control-tower airports showed an over-all decline of 6.3 per cent compared to the same period last year, according to the Michigan Commerce Department's Aeronautics Commission.

Only four of the 12 airports—Pontiac, Jackson, Battle Creek and Muskegon—had increases in the number of takeoffs and landings.

Metro Airport had 125,814 in the first half of this year, as compared to 148,870 during the first half of 1970.

Willow Run Airport showed a decline of 9.4 per cent, from 96,063 to 87,870.

SERVICES APPRECIATED — Olan Wyman, 13020 Edgedale, Belleville, retired vice-president of the National Bank of Detroit who was in charge of the Belleville branch, is receiving a pin for "faithful and valuable service" to the Southern Wayne County Unit of the Michigan Heart Association.

Presentation was made by Mrs. Mary McIntosh, chairman of the Association's state-wide Community Programs Committee. Wyman and Mrs. McIntosh are working to free the award, a gold pin, from its plastic box.

Attendance up at parks

More than 1,675,092 persons visited Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority parks in June, compared to 1,525,100 for the comparable month of 1970.

Hot, dry and sunny weather most of the month plus a heat wave the final week of June helped increase attendance at all Authority parks. Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville had over 288,910 visitors, which exceeded last year's high of 284,000 visitors, but was below the record high of 307,900 persons visiting the park in June, 1966.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford had 421,000 visitors last month, which surpassed the 356,000 persons visiting the park in June, 1970, but below the record high of 482,000 set in June, 1963.

Over 93,902 persons visited the three HCMA parks in Washtenaw County during June compared to 77,500 for June, 1970.

Comparative figures are as follows, with 1970 figures in parentheses: Hudson Mills — 30,474 (30,860); Dexter-Huron — 25,919 (20,370); and Delhi Park — 37,509 (26,270).

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Some people say love is blind. All of us often hear, "Good grief, what does he see in her?" Or, vice versa.

At an early age, a child is taught that God is love. As the child grows older, a mistaken understanding of the meaning of love takes place. During a confused adolescence, far fetched wise cracks are sometimes heard that love is an itchy feeling you can't scratch. When the child matures to marriageable age, love is 'found' — or so it is thought. The staggering divorce statistics reveal not only absence of love, the frightening figures reveal how little we know about love and what it is. Love need not, nor should it be undefinable or unfindable. Why? The answer is found in the same Book that has so many answers to so many other questions. Read it.

"Love is patient and kind; love is not jealous or boastful; it is not arrogant or rude. Love does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice at wrong, but rejoices in the right. Love bears all things; believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things." (I Corinthians 13: 4-7)

Park gets grant

Liquor Commission assesses bar fines

ROMULUS COMMUNITY SCHOOL MINUTES

The State of Michigan has approved a grant of $58,342 to be used in the development of Elmer Johnson Community Park in Romulus.

Word came late last week from the office of State Representative Edward E. Mahalak, who had submitted the city's request for the grant early this year.

In a communication to the city, Mahalak said, "We are pleased to advise you that the Recreation Bond Fund application submitted by the City of Romulus for Project B 625 AD, Elmer Johnson Park, has been approved."

"The legislature, by a joint resolution, approved the list of eligible projects which we recently submitted to them. We have been authorized to proceed with all local bond projects that have been approved by the state."

The Johnson park, covering 15 acres, is named for the president of the Romulus Progressive Club, which has shown a great interest in the development of the recreation facility.

Although mostly undeveloped, the area already has water and sewer facilities available.

The development of Johnson Park will create a second major recreation area in the city, the first being Kennedy Park near Five Points.

PREPARING FOR POLITICS — Participating in the Michigan Farm Bureau Young People's Citizenship Seminar at Ferris State College recently were (from left) Jill Haislip 30926, Ecorse Rd. Mike Bilbrey, 7476 Merriman Rd. and Collette Austin, 34184 Ecorse Rd., all of Romulus. The purpose of the seminar was to give teens a grounding, through mock political campaigns, in how to actively participate in local governments.

Seminar students study political tactics

If 18-year-olds can vote, next they will be running for office.

Preparing for that day, local area high school students took part in mock political campaigns last week at the co-educational Michigan Farm Bureau Young People's Citizenship Seminar at Ferris State College in Big Rapids. Among the nearly 200 11th and 12th grade students were a trio of Romulus youngsters. They were Jill L. Haislip, 30926 Ecorse, Romulus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Haislip; Collette Austin, 34184 Ecorse Road, Romulus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Austin; and Mike L. Bilbrey, 7476 Merriman Romulus, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bilbrey.

In tune with the new age, the five-day seminar helped teens prepare to actively take part in local government. The theme of the seminar was the understanding of U.S. citizenship. Emphasis was on county government, the grass roots of the political system. Action by students was encouraged through active dialogue with guest speakers of national prominence, and in the staging of a weeklong county political election as it is actually conducted.

Guest speakers included Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau; Dr. Clifton Ganus, president of Harding College, Searcy, Ark.; Dr. Benjamin Rogge, chairman of the Department of Economics at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind.; Dr. John Furbay, philosopher, and Art Holst, National Football League official.

Rural and urban students attending were selected through nominations to the Wayne County Farm Bureau.

Pack 1739 sets summer activities

Pack 1739, which holds its meetings at Harrison School, and is sponsored by VFW Post 9568 of Romulus, is remaining active for those boys who are in town, so they do not lose the advantages of Scouting during the summer months.

A Family Picnic in June replaced the normal monthly meeting for a close-of-the-year activity. Those in attendance enjoyed games, activities, barbecue lunches.

A thank-you cheer and a good-bye were said to Mrs. Lee Wasavary, retiring den mother of Den Two, and a welcome cheer was given to greet the new den mother, Mrs. Pat Parson. Other den leaders, who have completed the year and will be continuing, are Mrs. Sue Kemp of Den One, Mr. Larry Wasavary of the Webelo Den and Mrs. Lucy Kline, den leader coach and temporary den mother for Den 3.

The original committee of the Pack — which included Marlene Aalbers, Inge Moultrie, Kathy McCallum and Charles Kline — has also expanded since the pack's beginning in February.

New people who have been welcomed include Bob Linne for Activities, Dennis Kidder for Advancement and Ceremonies, and Mrs. Lee Clark for Secretary, replacing Mrs. Moultrie who has had to resign. Mrs. Aalbers is Communications Chairman, Mrs. McCallum handles registration and membership and Mr. Kline is pack treasurer. Tom Greca as Institutional Representative completes the committee.

Pack 1739 is planning an activity for both July and August before regular meetings resume in September. Each den is staying active with trips and activities, with most dens having one or more activities per month. The boys recently helped their pack treasury with a sale of safety flares for automobiles. Some flares are still remaining for people interested.

The pack and committee are open to further expansion. All questions can be answered by calling 941-5677.
